Career Coaching International Products/Services

The focus at CCI is helping our clients discover who they are and what they love to do, and then setting them on the path to find and land those jobs. Main coaching programs include BRAND (helping people find their passion/interest and articulating that effectively) and BRAND+LAND (all elements of BRAND program and including the ongoing support to LAND that specific role). The combination of a rock-solid methodology with dedicated personalized coaching delivers incredible results in record time for our clients.

Professional Backgrounder

Tim Ragan is a seasoned technology veteran, and has logged over 20 years in numerous functional, management, and executive capacities on multiple continents with major communications players including Mitel, Nortel, Newbridge Networks, and Alcatel. Tim earned his first set of CEO spurs working to commercialize a tech startup during the 2001 industry melt-down. Fun times.... Tim launched C-View Strategies in 2003 as a boutique consulting firm focused on helping CEO's and their teams thrive in today's rapidly evolving external environment. In 2009 Tim took on ownership of CCI to extend his involvement to include working with high potential individuals who are keen to improve their career trajectory.

Tim is passionate about "business done well", and is dedicated to helping his client companies survive and thrive in high-change environments in ways that produce powerful, positive, and lasting business results. He brings that same passion to CCI where he is keen to help people discover their true calling and really prosper in their chosen career directions.

Tim has a B.Sc. (EE) from University of Alberta and an MBA from University of Ottawa, where he regularly teaches "Business & Society", a course that examines the ethical and moral implications of modern business and its interaction with government and civil society. He can also occasionally be spotted teaching marketing and BPR (business process redesign) courses.
